

What makes us different?

- We have 30 years of direct insights and perspective gained from working first-hand with people experiencing family violence.
- We have an outstanding team of experienced, professional trainers who are highly rated by attendees.
- We can tailor our training offerings to suit specific sectors, or meet particular agency or organisation objectives.
- We're part of Presbyterian Support Northern which gives us access to scale, strength and support.

shine RESPOND

- can deliver to communities throughout Aotearoa/New Zealand through in-person and online training formats.
- has the capacity to deliver tailored trainings to large agencies and organisations.

All our trainings are eligible to credit towards your continuing professional development hours.

Interested?

Give us a call or email our Shine RESPOND education and training team:

Phone: 09 815 4601 and select option #3

Email: trainer@2shine.org.nz

For more information and training dates visit:

www.2shine.org.nz/how-shine-helps/training

shine RESPOND family violence response training ✖

An expert solution to family violence response training for community professionals

Providing continuing professional development pathways

Who are we?

Shine RESPOND is part of Shine – a specialist domestic violence service provider - and a sister brand to DVFREE (which works with employers to develop effective workplace response programmes).

We have a clear focus on our purpose - to help grow and strengthen the capacity for an effective and safe community response to family violence.

Working with New Zealand’s community professionals at all levels Shine RESPOND equips people with up-to-date knowledge and understanding, and practical strategies and tools to work with people experiencing family violence.

We want to work with communities to support them to respond effectively, but also safely, to people they interact with who are being impacted by family violence.

Who is Shine RESPOND training for?

If you’re involved in any of these sectors, then the trainings we offer in our education and training programme are designed for you, whether at an introductory level, or building on your existing knowledge and experience.

- Healthcare providers
- Childcare services
- Social Development
- Justice
- Women’s interests
- Agencies working in the area of prevention & response to family & sexual violence
- NGO’s
- Social service providers
- Education services
- Relevant Government agencies and services
- Community-anchored businesses or organisations that want to be more informed and feel more confident to respond to customers who may be experiencing family violence.
- Community practitioners wanting opportunities for continued professional development

What do we do?

Our training and education programme is structured to cater for all levels of knowledge and experience and offers a tiered approach that participants can progress through.

- General Awareness: Group sessions for organisations who want to raise general awareness and understanding of the impacts of family violence on people – half day.
- A three-level programme of more in-depth training:

LEVEL 1 Introductory Training
A one day course

LEVEL 2 Foundational Skills Training
A one day course

LEVEL 3 Advanced Training
A two day course

SPECIALIST TOPIC DAYS

With subject matter expert guest speakers (see our website for current topic subjects).

Our trainings are limited to 20 people maximum.

This allows for more personalised attention, successful interactive sessions, and creates a safe space in which to discuss and learn.

